Harvey

Family History

"As we build, let us think that we build forever. Let it not be for present delight, or present use alone; let it be such work as our descendants will thank us for, and let us think as we lay stone upon stone, that a time is to come when these stones will be sacred because our hands have laid them, and that men will say as they look upon the labor and wrought substance of them – See! This our fathers did for us." ——Ruskin

"The kind of person you are depends upon your forebears for generations back, just like a plant." ——Thomas Edison

Three Dollars

TO MY ANCESTORS

I see you toiling down the tedious years,
You bearded, bent and gaunt old pioneers,
Sowing and reaping, slowing once again,
In patience for an unborn race of men.

I see you struggling in the wilderness,
Where failure meant starvation, and success
A cabin in the clearing, rough-hewn, rude
Garments of homespun and the humblest food.

Traditions scarcely tell me whence you came;
I only know a few of you by name;
I only know you lived and multiplied,
Quite profligate in progeny, and died.

Yet, in my heart, I know that most of you
Were strong and steadfast, and that one or two,
At least, had weaknesses that still may be
Traced in the trend of atavistic me.

One was a rather worthless wight, I fear,
Who, when the bluebird whistled, spring was near,
Forsook his plow —— a shiftless sluggard one ——
And roamed the woods alone with rod and gun.

And one a gentle dreamer was, I know,
Who, lured by shadows, let the substance go.
'Twas he who dared the raging western sea.
I'm glad he handed down his dreams to me!

—— "Oelius"

INTRODUCTION

That a record of ancestry is considered of great importance is manifested in the Bibical account of seventy-six unbroken generations from Adam to Christ.

Though comparatively small in numbers, the Harvey Family has contributed generously with brain, brawn and blood to the progress of the British Empire and the United States. It has distinguished itself in war and in the varied pursuits of peace.

Pride of family, perhaps even more than pride of country, is a commendable trait and should be cultivated. The Harveys have just cause to be proud of their family history, traditions and standards.

While this collection of data is concerned with those members of the family who have been statesmen, military heroes, scientists, writers and captains of industry, it is also intended as a memorial of men and women whose very names are forgotten today; who, unnoted then, as they are unremembered now, faced and solved the problems of humble living, laughed at fate and refused to be broken by misfortune, who gave sturdy children to the world — and died!

It pleased them that, as a result of their sacrifice and toil, their progeny might have more comforts, increased opportunities, and a greater freedom. An affectionate regard to their memory is natural to the heart. To resurrect their memories out of the mists of time, to link their lives with the evolution of events and to assign to them their share in the wonderful past should be a very lofty aspiration to every member of the Harvey Family.

The data in this "volume" has been gathered from authentic sources as shown on the last few pages. The compiler hopes and believes that in producing this Record he is bringing to the Harvey Family information which will be of great interest and value to them.

In references No. 26 and No. 36 we find the following regarding the origin and meaning of the family name Harvey: "Bapt. 'the son of Harvey.' Still found as a fairly familiar personal name up to beginning of the 14th century. The last two centuries have seen the practice made popular of using surnames for baptismal names." "From Herve a locality near Belgium." "Variations are: Harvie."

Another authority says, "The name Hervey (warrior of the host) is evidently of ancient Frankish or Norman origin. The name also implies 'leader' or 'hero'."

Unless otherwise shown, the persons in this material whose names are accompanied by three figures are children of the immediately preceding persons bearing immediately preceding numbers. All persons in each group bearing the same letter as a part of their numbers, are directly related. The generations of the descendants of those bearing numbers of three figures are represented as follows:

1st Generation	(1), (2), etc.
2nd Generation	(A), (B), etc.
3rd Generation	(a), (b), etc.
4th Generation	1, 2, etc.
5th Generation	A, B, etc.
6th Generation	a, b, etc.
7th Generation	(I), (II), etc.
8th Generation	(i), (ii), etc.
9th Generation	I, II, etc.
10th Generation	i, ii, etc.

Abbreviations: Add., address b., born; ch., children; coll., College; d., died; d.y., died young dau., daughter; grad., graduated; univ., university; s., son.

THE HARVEY COAT OF ARMS

A Coat of Arms is an emblem or device "traditionally inherited;" and originally bestowed, usually with other honors and privileges, by royalty, in recognition of meritorious deeds. For centuries the Coat of Arms has been a distinctive mark of families of noble blood.

Coats of Arms were often used for purposes of identification and recognition on the field of battle as well as in civil life. To most Americans of today a Coat of Arms is understood to be a "family relic" or an "emblem of family pride." This is especially true if there is no genuine claim to a family Arms.

It is claimed by some writers that Coats of Arms, in a crude form, were used by Noah's sons after the flood. There are records of other Coats of Arms at different periods of ancient history. Heraldry, however, as we know it today, did not become of much importance until soon after the invasion of England by William the Conqueror, A.D. 1066. Heraldry became of general interest at about the time of the Crusades.

In 1528 Henry VIII King of England, appointed a commission to visit each country in his kingdom, and summon his subjects of rank to appear for examination as to their heraldic rights. This procedure was repeated at irregular intervals and a record known as "visitations," kept.

The ancestors of the present Harvey families, who were in England before the time of Edward I (reigned A.D. 1272-1307), spelled the name "Hervey." The beautiful ancient Coat of Arms which is correctly described below, and which is recognized by the Harveys of today, was first used by John Hervey, of Thurleigh (about A.D. 1400); Lord Hervey, of Ross and Kidbrooke Hervey, Marquis of Bristol; Hervey of Lainston, co. Southampton; and others.

It is described in Burke's General Armory, Burke's Landed Gentry, Burke's Peerage and Baronetage, and other reliable works on heraldry, as shown below, in some cases accompanied by illustrations and pedigrees.

ARMS: Gules, on a bend argent three trefoils vert. On a red shield, a silver diagonal bar with three green trefoils thereon.

CREST: A lion ppr (proper), holding a trefoil vert. A lion in natural colors, holding a green trefoil.

MOTTO: Je N'Oublierai Jamais. I shall never forget.

As a matter of personal taste, which is permissable, some members of the family vary the shape of the shield and of other features of the Arms. The mantle and helmet which are sometimes seen with Coats of Arms are merely ornamental and may be correctly included or omitted.

Besides its family significance and inspiration this Coat of Arms painted in full brilliant colors makes an excellent mural ornament and inspires the admiration and comment of all who see it.

Sir Bernard Burke, of Heralds College, London, said "Heraldry is prized by all who can show honorable ancestry or wish to found honorable families."

ANCIENT HARVEY FAMILIES

With Descendants of Later Generations

Some of the members of the Harvey Family recorded in this collection were members either of the peerage and baronetage or of the landed gentry of Great Britain. For all Americans of the name their history holds a peculiar charm, since there is about them something of the glamour of antiquity and the romantic appeal of the country which, not so many generations ago, our ancestors called home.

In these pedigrees are recorded the lives of many men who were or are prominent in the civil and military life of the empire. In many cases it was the younger sons of these families who migrated to the American colonies.

In Burke's General Armory, including the edition of 1921, titled Harvey families are mentioned under headings and in the order as follows:

A few Hervey families, also, are listed in Burke's General Armory.

Hervey de Bourges (Herveus bituricensis) was said by some to be the direct ancestor of the main stock of Harvey families in England and America. He accompanied William the Conqueror into England, A.D. 1066. He held a great barony in Suffolk, 1086.

Several Harveys went from Somersetshire and other places in England from the time of Queen Elizabeth, to Ireland. Henry Harvey of Brockley (d. 1616) was one of these. He was the ancestor of Harvey families of Carlow, co. Cork, Limerick and Waterford, with branches in New York, Philadelphia, and Lower Merton, Penna.

The Harveys were in Aberdeenshire, Scotland, where they held considerable estates, in the 15th Century. A family pew in the Church at Kintore, with the Harvey Arms over it, bears date 1653.

FAMILY HISTORIES

by J. Montgomery Seaver

Price: $3.00 each

The volumes in this series, although far from containing a complete history of the family, should prove extremely useful as a starting point for the compilation of such a record. Printed census records, war rolls, genealogies and town histories and many other printed works were combed for mention of each surname. As source material from printed authority, these bring together in one volume what could be found only in widely scattered printed sources and makes the information readily and conveniently available. Valuable information or at least clues to the same can be found in these volumes.

Notably, each volume includes the coat-of-arms; a record of ancient families of the name; a list of prominent members of the family—past and present—in both the British Commonwealth and the United States; a record of those of the name tracing descent from royalty; a record of the first emigrants to America and the first few generations descended from them; a list of those bearing the name who fought in the American Revolution; and other information including a list of the references consulted in the preparation of the work—which in itself is an extremely useful guide to where further information may be secured.
